2019 Designer of the Year: 100% Design SA

Photography: Lutendo Malatji

TheUrbanative is a contemporary African furniture and product design company based in South Africa. Our furniture and products are differentiated by the juxtaposition of abstracted African cultural inspirations with the functionality & look and feel of modern materials, technologies and modern furniture silhouettes; whilst guided by the philosophies of craft, collaboration and design evolution.

We love to think of our furniture as a celebration of the marriage of African culture modern design.

Render: Apricot Studio

Started by Mpho Vackier an engineer turned furniture designer, TheUrbanative team constantly explores the role of culture and cultural representations and visibility in modern societies, with the aim of telling contemporary African stories through furniture and product design.

Designed and released under the collection name African crowns the NENZIMA SERVER pays homage to queen Nenzima of the Mangbetu tribe who was the younger sister of the nineteenth-century ruler, Mbunza and the wife of Okondo, she was reported to be the one of the most powerful person in the court in the first decade of the 20th century.

The overall shape, lines and form of the server along with the weaved detail elements are all inspired by the distinctive look of the elongated heads of most Mangbetu women at the time, resulting from the cultural practice of 'Lipombo', which was a status symbol among the Mangbetu ruling classes at the beginning of the century. Along with the elongated head, the hairstyles accompanying the overall look was an oval or funnel-shaped coiffure which ended in an outward halo, originally symbolic of high social status, this was considered exceptionally attractive and powerful and hence the inclusion in TheUrbanative's African Crowns Collection.
